Call for Nominations Class of 2014-15

Effective March 5, the National Cotton Council (NCC) is accepting nominations for the 2014-15 Emerging Leaders Program through April 7, 2014. The program is an educational project of The Cotton Foundation and is sponsored through a special grant from Monsanto.

Through this program, participants will prepare to become emerging leaders and assume greater leadership responsibilities within the cotton industry by:

- Developing a thorough understanding of the NCC's role, including its programs, policy development and implementation process;
- Gaining a better understanding of the broad spectrum of issues that affect U.S. cotton's economic well-being;
- Increasing understanding of the U.S. political process and how divergent interests within society work to influence the process;
- Understanding the important role that certified interest organizations play within NCC structure and how organizations work to serve members' needs, both on a geographic and segmental basis, and how they work with other industry groups;
- Learning about Cotton Council International's role in developing and maintaining export markets for U.S. cotton, manufactured cotton products and cottonseed products;
- Participating in advanced professional development training in the areas of communications skills, media relations, business etiquette and leadership skills; and
- Becoming familiar with the role that the sponsor plays in fostering a healthy U.S. cotton industry.
- Additionally, the program will provide the project sponsor with an opportunity to establish stronger relationships with leaders who will shape future U.S. cotton industry policy.

The program will consist of three sessions which will require a total of approximately 14 days of travel:

- Session 1 – June 16-20, 2014 – Memphis, TN and St. Louis, MO
- Session 2 – February 6-8, 2015 – NCC Annual Meeting, Memphis, TN
- Session 3 – April or May, 2015 – Washington, DC

The program covers expenses for lodging, meals and travel. Telephone calls, laundry, auto expenses, parking and other personal expenses are the responsibility of each participant. "Free" evenings may be scheduled during each session and participants are responsible for expenses they incur during this time.

Candidates may be nominated by NCC's certified interest organizations, an NCC officer or NCC Board member. Nominations should be made by completing and returning the following form to memberservice@cotton.org. Past nominees must be re-nominated for the 2014-15 program.

There is no age limit, but candidates for this program must:

- Be recognized by their peers as an emerging leader who is expected to assume a greater leadership role within their segment and NCC in the near future;
- Derive their primary livelihood from at least one of the seven raw cotton industry segments;
- Complete a program application and, if selected, also a program enrollment form;
- Agree to attend all scheduled sessions except in case of illness or family emergency;
- Have approval of their employer or, if self-employed, offer evidence that time away from their operation for training activities will not hinder their work; and
- Agree to complete all assignments, reports and evaluations in a timely manner

Nominees will be mailed an application after this form is received by NCC. Participant selections will be made by the NCC Chairman in consultation with the President's office and Member Services staff. All candidates will be notified of their selection status by April 25, 2014. Candidates who are not selected can be re-nominated for the 2015-16 program.
